Nursing (Mental Health - Nurse Practitioners)Master

Content Area MH

Description "Nurse Practitioners" are advanced practice nurses who are authorised by the Nurses and Midwives Board of NSW to use that title. Nurse Practitioners are expected to work autonomously, instigate diagnostic investigations, prescribe medication within an approved formulary, and refer judiciously. Students of this course undertake all of the components of the Graduate Diploma in Nursing (Mental Health) then specialise in the additional Nurse Practitioner component of the course. This programme, which includes a significant advanced clinical practice component, meets the requirements of the Nurses and Midwives Board of NSW addressing areas of advanced health assessment, diagnostic skills, therapeutic management, pharmacology, evaluation and collaboration in care.

Mental Health Nursing - Dual Diagnosis

Graduate Certificate

Content Area CM

Description Nurses, more than any other health workers, provide services for people who have co-existing mental health and substance use disorders. In Greater Western Sydney alone, epidemiological estimates suggest 240,400 people could have a dual diagnosis. The Centre for Mental Health of the NSW Health Department and the Area Health Services in Greater Western Sydney, recognise dual disorders as a significant health issue and place high priority on developing improved services and educational opportunities designed to address the problem. Consequently, they are sponsoring this highly relevant course, designed with expert clinical input, to prepare students for advanced level nursing practice.

Mental Health NursingMaster

Content Area MH

Description The Master of Mental Health Nursing program provides the opportunity to prepare registered nurses to function as specialty mental health nurses in a variety of mental health care settings. The program aims to produce graduates who are critical thinkers that effectively utilise available evidence and reflective practices to enhance their clinical effectiveness. The program will be offered in an internal / blended mode. It is acknowledged that some courses lend themselves to weekly or regular class attendance throughout the semester, while others will be offered in a series of full or part day intensive workshops with greater online support of students. This flexibility in attendance pattern also responds to the varied work patterns of registered nurses and ability to schedule university study around work commitments.

Delivery Mode Internal

Duration 1 year full-time

Indigenous

Entry Requirement Registered nurses with a current licence to practice nursing in their State and would normally have completed a relevant undergraduate degree. Students would normally be employed as a registered nurse in a mental health setting (unit of a hospital, community mental health team or similar) or where they would have access to children, adolescents or adults with mental health issues and / or disorders for a minimum of two days per week.
